ASA Electronics® Debuts Upgraded Wallmount Stereo

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ELKHART, IN. –ASA Electronics is a full line of brand new JENSEN® wallmount stereos, starting with the JWM60A. The system combines the very best in advanced audio technology with a sleeker profile that maintains the same JENSEN® footprint that has been used in over one million units on the market today, making replacing or upgrading a breeze. Snap-side bezels on the control panel add a sophisticated, modern look while hiding the stereo's mounting screws.

ASA has upgraded more than just the look of this RV stereo. The JWM60A has a dedicated Bluetooth pairing button that makes it easier than ever for campers to connect their smart device to their stereo. With the push of a button, campers can stream their entire music library from anywhere in a 33-foot range of the RV. With the jControl app, music won't be the only thing campers can control from their smartphones.

The jControl app, available for free on android and Apple devices, turns any smartphone into a wireless remote control. jControl will sync with the JWM60A to remember station presets and settings to control three separate speaker zones for the ultimate listening experience. App control allows the RV owner to control their stereo and speaker zones from another room, or even from outside their RV.

The engineering team at ASA wanted to make it easier to integrate technology into outdoor living. The JWM60A features a USB input capable of charging both iPhone and Android devices. The JWM60A also has two RCA video output jacks, a front A/V stereo jack, a rear A/V output, a rear audio output, and a built in CD/DVD player that supports numerous audio and video formats. The wallmount stereo is complete with a built-in alarm clock with a sleep timer for those early morning adventures.
